"There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
There are souls that are pure and true,
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

No truer words could be spoken of Miss Tennessee Weatherred, to whom the students dedicate the Hilhi Annual. As a token of "thanks" for all the time and inspirations given to the students we show our appreciation.

ADMINISTRATION

Student Body Officers

Fellow students,

With the end of another term we find that once again a class of seniors takes the road of life away from the home which they have known for four years. To you fellow graduates I sincerely wish the best of luck and success to whatever future endeavors you may strive for.

With those remaining we leave a cherished possession, the foundation of the knowledge and the belief that with co-operation and understanding, Hilhi can continue to keep its records of achievements varied and high.

It is well that on our way we pause and give thanks to the administration and faculty whose faithful and unselfish devotion have given to all something which is never lost—fellowship—guidance and a firm education.

With these thoughts and a little reminder that what you care to be, you are now becoming. I bid you good-by and lots of luck.

The school year of 1948-49 has been one of the most successful years Hilhi has ever had in its competitive activities. In athletics our teams have been very successful. Our football team competed in the quarter finals but was eliminated from the State play-offs. The basketball team won the District tournament and advanced to the semi-finals in the State tournament. At the present time our track and baseball teams have launched a successful season.

The Speech and Debate teams have been very successful in the invitational tournaments held at Willamette, Pacific, and Linfield Colleges. It is the first time in the history of Hilhi our debate team has won a State championship.

We can be justly proud of our Music and Dramatic productions, as each performance has been presented before a large appreciative audience. The Music department will end the year by being host to the District Music Festival this spring.

To the underclassmen I wish a busy and happy vacation. When you return to school next fall, you will find many new improvements in the buildings. The addition will be completed as will the new gymnasium. The adding of the new units will make your school facilities as good as any in the State.

Administrators

Big business in Hilhi is controlled by our five-man school board. The stock market at Hilhi has really gone skyward with the new building but all this was obtained only by the smart adjusting and investing of this said board. Just for the records Mrs. Read records all goings on.

Monkey business in the school is handled by two very capable administrators—Mr. Jensen, who checks up on all necessities, and Miss Willers, who just checks up and gives her worthwhile advice.

FOOTBALL

That old pigskin must have really been greased this year. The Hilhi team lost only one game in TYV league play, which shows that the team can now put two feathers in its cap and shake the hand of one of the most able coaches and friends a team ever had. Hilhi foes only managed to get across our goal for 18 points this year which is just another indication of what a bunch of boys can do as a team and not as individuals. Congratulations for a most exciting football season fellows!!

The B-Squad had more than its share in helping this past season to be a good one. Not only did they come out with a good scoring record but just think - - - the coach has all that human potentiality for next year.

BASKETBALL

It was wondered if the basketball season was being started with a Mexican jumping bean. It seems that the brains of the hardwood couldn't quite keep up with it, but Coach Fox came to the rescue with his boosting talks and his movements of rhythm to bring the boys soaring towards the top.

The fancy footwork really brought out the crowds. Come rain or snow a person just couldn't find room to seat a pin, and with crowds of that size along came Mr. Enthusiasm. The old rafters really did ring when Hilhi made a score. We can't say as we blame them.

G. A. A.

G. A. A., or in other words Girls' Athletic Association, is really on the ball, or maybe we should say behind the ball. The membership consists of anyone who has earned ten points in sports. This isn't just a local rule, it's state wide. Yes, sir, these fair damsels have to answer to the state. But this doesn't seem to hinder them for they number forty-eight in all. Sizeable to say the least.

They have their share of the fun too. Bowling parties are a big thing heading the list "for fun." Then there's participation in play days with other schools. This offers a bit of competition to the fun.

Last but not least is the auction of all lost or strayed clothing. This will be done in the gym, better buy back your things, gals.

Like most other clubs, these fair girls must have a workout along the concession line. Yes, they too have sold refreshments at the games.

F. B. L. A.

It's the Future Business Leaders of America, F.B.L.A. for short. These fair people are furthering their background in commercial work by gaining experience toward the day when they face the cold, cold world. They are to take jobs as the boss' secretary, his file clerk, book-keeper, or perhaps the man who handles the money, the payroll clerk.

Admittance to the organization is simple enough. Just one easy requirement and that is to take one year of a commercial subject. Like most clubs they have to have some money in the bank. To earn this they sell things at the games.

Each year a new group of members is put through the process of initiation and they in turn will be the bosses' secretaries and file clerks in the future.

Fire Club

Otherwise known as the boys with the hose and a watchful eye are the lads chosen for the Fire club. These fair lads, chosen for dependability, number forty in all. The natural question now is how to be one of the forty. The answer to that is—you'll have to watch your P's and Q's for it's the old members that choose the new ones.

Each boy has his station at a door to prevent the "doors from swinging in and the doors swinging out" and batting all you Spartans in the face. The patrolmen are to see that all the lost, strayed, and stolen are on their way out of the building.

Like an old sea captain they are the last to leave the burning building. All kidding aside their service is greatly appreciated and needed. Do as good a job next year as you've done this year boys.

F. F. A.

The salvation of tomorrow's generation rests on the shoulders of the boys known as the Future Farmers of America. They don't sit by and let the world go around, they really keep themselves busy.

Each and every one of the boys has his own home project, be it sow, wheat or cows. Experience is obtained as well as earning a few shekels for the pocket. Home projects are a must, if no project, no member. They've had stock shown in many shows; came out on top, too.

Another feather in their caps is the fact that they have one of the top judging teams in Oregon. Rather good record, don't you think?

It can't be said these fair boys are home bodies. They certainly have their share of social life with banquets, judging contests and parties. Yes, parties; the F. H. A. and F. F. A. had a trip to the beach. Sounds like fun, don't you think?

F. H. A.

The old pot really boils when the Future Homemakers of America commence on one of its projects. Let it not be said that these fair damsels won't know how to boil water. They even make full course dinners and serve them to their parents at an annual banquet. But they need not fear, with all the tantalizing odors that escape from the cooking room, many can tell that they go deeper into the cooking situation than boiling water.

They take time off from true duty to have a little fun. The party days are taken up with a fall party and a Valentine party—hearts to all.

Stay in your own backyard doesn't apply to the girls. They sponsor a homemaking group in Italy. Few more lessons from the Italian girls and maybe the local chapter will feel adept in putting on an Italian spaghetti meal. Just an idea.

Girls' League

Let it not be said that the girls can't handle situations. Just name it, and they will accommodate. It's the Girls' League that decorates the lunchroom on Halloween, Christmas or P.-T. A. If there's no special occasion to decorate they make one.

Not one but all girls are members of the league, so it can't be said that the word choose exists in its vocabulary. They are strong believers in the slogan, "We Were All Created Equal."

The social calendar is really filled with all the candy sales to help Unesco. And the freshman mixer was really an event. All the food was eaten, the music absorbed and every one had a marvelous time.

Some needy family had a good Christmas, thanks to the girls. A big basket was filled with supplies donated by the students. A note of "Thanks" for all the fine services of the league.

Boys' League

What the girls can't do the boys play the part of Sir Gallant and come to the rescue. However, let it not be said that they are all brawn and no brain.

There was brain as well as brawn behind that wonderful Dog Patch Dance. However, let it be said that beauty, brains, and brawn were all put together to come up to this unique affair. It was put together so good that the students even danced!

This is the year! Yes, the boys have banded together and are now an organized group. This is the first year for the group. If an organization can be judged for future years as to its strength the first year, never fear. A word of congratulations fellows.

Y-Teens

If it's information you want or a job to be done just call on Miss Weatherred's Y-Teens. Do believe they are the most activating club in existence in old Hilhi.

At Christmas time they put on a vesper program that stuck in the memories of all. They also had a winter formal "White Christmas." All those attending had a marvelous time dancing to such good music. They also went into Portland and did some caroling.

Not only do they have social affairs but they do hard work, too. Every teachers' meeting will find several of them staying after school and making coffee to serve. Have to keep the teachers going. This is clean-up year in the G.R. room. New blankets and pictures help to cheer up the place, not that it didn't need it. Can't cheer the sick if the blinds are drawn.

Hi-Y

A service organization that started 25 years ago and is still going strong is the Hi-Y. (Meaning? Have to join to find out.)

Every year it sponsors Tag Day and this year was not an exception. Tags, and more tags changed hands, in hopes that your tag would have the most signatures on it.

The two lucky winners were awarded copies of this wonderful volume of the Hilhi. Had to get a plug in.

Like most good clubs it too has a good purpose, that being to maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

Registration day the Hi-Y boys were on hand to show the green frosh where to find their lockers, and above all, how to work them after they did find them. Never get anywhere if the blind leads the blind.

The pin they wear is in the shape of a triangle similar to the Y-Teens pin. Suppose there is any connection?

Latin Club

"When in Rome do as the Romans do." So goes the initiation of the neophytes. All day they romped the halls in their togas (sheets to us) and fell to their knees in adoration at the sight of an old member or an officer. Wonder what would have happened if they hadn't bowed to them?

The annual banquet is a feast for all. The dishes of delicacy are all concocted from the menus of the Roman women. Come one and all you Latin students and join in on the merrymen it only takes a course in Latin to have fun.

Their pocket money is earned by having a concession at one of the games. Wonder what these clubs would do if the American public wasn't always eating. Not hungry, no food; no food, no money; no money, no fun.

Pep Club

The girls in the blue and white can be found at every game helping to lead in cheering the team on to victory. Comes game day and the snappy outfits are worn to remind one and all of the game to be. Not only that but before the big games the girls can be found in jeans painting big signs to help in the advertising.

As for the social side of the calendar they can usually be seen having a candy concession. It all helps to earn that ever needed penny. And it also fulfills the desires of the spectators.

The gala affair of the year is the Spring Formal. Lights are lowered, there's the scent of flowers in the air, and the dresses swish around the ankles, as all are in seventh heaven for three hours when the land of make believe becomes the cold reality.

Philo

Hear ye, hear ye, senior girls, come one come all. Have fun in the exclusive club for senior women. Not only is it an exclusive for girls but it also has an exclusive name Philo, short for Philolexians.

Each club must have a purpose so this is no exception. Quote "To promote better understanding among all senior girls and to provide entertainment."

The word entertainment can be brought to mind in recalling events of the club. To start the year, the neophytes were wearing the traditional pigtail and the gunny sacks wrapped around their feet. A sight for sore eyes—sore feet too, maybe!

Then came the assembly featuring hair styles done by a local stylist. Of course this was of interest to all, young and old.

In order to keep the club moving seven junior girls are chosen as members to preside over the following year. Lucky girls.

Rally Club

Like the old town crier the Rally club cries out game day! game day! Maybe not by word and mouth but with dark sweaters and white skirts and cords, of course the beany goes too, that are worn on the day of a game. Organized to help pep up the students, they do the job well.

Rally club tries to out-go the Pep club with signs advertising the games. They're getting bigger and better. Next problem is getting a building large enough to house them. Question is do all forty members help paint or do just a few girls do the job?

The big social event of the year was the annual banquet in honor of the football team plus their guests. Question is who is included under the word guests?

To become a member of the navy blue and white, you've got to have a majority vote of the old members. If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

Rifle Club

Ready, aim, fire! That could well be the motto of the Hillsboro Junior Rifle club. They do all the firing in one of the best ranges in the Northwest. Now is the question, where is this range? It can be found under the auditorium of Hilhi.

It can't be said that this is a man's world, because the forty odd members of the club have some sharp shooting women. Judy Schendel took top honors in the girls' division in a match last spring. See what we mean?

Not only do the members have fun shooting in matches but they learn how to handle a gun safely and accurately. By the time they finish a workout in this club they can really pick cans off the back fence. But, with the use of an eagle's eye, who couldn't? Don't put your last dime on it.

Senate

Cut away coats, white tie and tails and, Oh yes, the top hat, are all part of the dignity possessed by members of the Senate club. Courtesy and a tip of the hat could well be called for, if this were the nineteenth century. Why? This club is the oldest club in existence at Hilhi.

Besides having a social calendar calling for school dances and the traditional "Duck Dinner," the boys do a little on the serious side. When first started, the club was founded around debate work. Now it furthers the use of parliamentary law, and keeps up on matters of public interest.

They also have fun at the stag get togethers at member's homes. (Stag that is if we don't count Miss Weatherred one of the advisors). Of course Mr. McCorkle, the other advisor is just one of the boys. New members are chosen by a vote of old members.

Ski Club

It's amazing what fun can be had out of two slats of waxed wood. But there is definite evidence that there is such fun when you look at the size of the membership.

The enthusiasm really runs high when the skiers pull themselves out of bed to get the 5:30 bus for Mount Hood. Old man winter has been causing a little trouble this year. There's been so much snow that Mount Hood was out but Hornecker's hill did just as well, (Pumpkin Ridge).

Let it not be said that the beginners aren't given a break. They must pass an efficiency test before they can wear the club patch. Now how do you learn enough to pass it? The senior members teach the basic and a professional instructor at Mount Hood goes on from there.

After the strenuous workout when evening arrives all are ready for a hot bath to ease the bumps and bruises and off to bed.

S. O. S.

The significance behind the initials S. O. S. will no doubt answer curiosity aroused in many students. As the saying goes, "Curiosity killed the cat but satisfaction brought it back." Now it can be told Serving Our Saviour.

Like all clubs this too has a definite purpose. It being "To promote Christian fellowship among the local churches." Who may be a member? The answer to that question is easy. Anyone who attends the meetings regularly will have fun and fellowship with twenty odd members who already belong.

The meetings are of interest to all because of the varied programs. Local ministers and former Hilhi students are guest speakers. Then at this same time they pull down their hair and have a round table discussion among themselves.

Every meeting strays away from the serious with a little singing; on the social calendar they had a Halloween party and Christmas couldn't go by without going caroling, and this spring they had to help usher spring in with another party.

Spanish Club

Second year Spanish students join El Club Espanol and have lots of fun breaking the pinatas. What's a pinata? They are little faces put on sacks of goodies. See lots of fun especially if you break the pinata.

Speaking of pinatas the El Club Espanol journeyed over to Forest Grove during Christmas and had themselves a big time.

Such a club is definitely an incentive toward learning all that can be obtained about the Spanish Culture. And that is just what they do, learn about customs and life of the people in the many Spanish speaking countries.

The members can always be spotted for they wear a black shield with a gold band of Castile and a pearl pin. Mighty snappy looking.

Like most other clubs they too had a concession selling pop corn and ice cream at one of the Hilhi games.

Blue H

The boys of the blue and white make sure that the banners are waving for dear old Hilhi. Those banners add up to fifty-one in all who are chosen by a majority vote of old members.

These fair lads are the boys who help to keep the American standards of good sportsmanship alive and before the public eye. They have earned the right to wear the blue and white H by participating in one of the four sports: track, baseball, basketball, or football. When not participating in one of the sports, they are helping to usher.

The neophytes always give the student body a good laugh when the paddles start flying. The boys are a little reluctant in sitting down for a few days after that. Can't say as I blame them.

Forensics

Just can't win when Mrs. Knispel's forensic students are on the other side. When they leave for one of the forensic meets it can well be assured that they'll come home with the cup.

This year's schedule called for a tournament at Pacific University. Twenty-two schools participated and, of course, Elaine Furby brought the cup home by taking a first in women's extemp and a second in oratory and Jake Rufer took third in men's extemp.

At the Linfield tournament Elaine again scored. She took a second in humorous declamation and Mary Kramien and Elaine tied for a third in varsity debate out of twenty-two high schools. Congratulations girls!

By the time this book had to go to press the state meet had not been held but believe me and have no fears that someone of the competent squad will come in with Hilhi's colors flying.

MRS. KNISPEL, Advisor

Hilhi

Much midnight oil was burned and many bottles of aspirin were consumed trying to put out a book that all you ardent subscribers would read and be proud of now and in years to come.

Despite the up in costs to put out a book these days we tried to chuck it full of pictures that will recall to mind in twenty years the fun that was had in the high school days, and you can say, "I remember when . . ."

The staff has worked hard and diligently in the mornings, between classes and in intervals after school to get this book to press in time for you students because we wouldn't want the record of having to mail this book to you in the month of July.

We of the staff wish to express a unanimous "thanks" for the students' co-operation in helping us to publish such a book.

Hilhilites

It's a scoop! Why? Because one of the staff members of the Hilhilites is always Johnny-on-the-spot to get any little particle of news and you can be sure in the paper it will go.

The very capable staff under Mrs. Knispel's guidance has a right to pop its vests. The paper has been excellent. Not only can the news be found but editorials on the serious side, gossip about all supposed secrets of who was seen with whom and when. Then we can't leave the know-all sport section out of the picture, quite the contrary, it's very much in the picture, in fact one whole page. So you see every walk of school life can be found in the paper.

The incentive to improve is well regarded year after year in each edition that comes to the public eye, as can well be witnessed by this year's edition of the Hilhilites.

Arsenic and Old Lace

One night early in December reels of laughter could be heard winding its way into the night. What was the occasion? Why it was the Junior play of course.

The fast moving play covered much ground. Three brothers the good, the insane, and the bad couldn't see eye to eye, can't blame them. And two dear old aunts, sweet old ladies of the community, were found to be a little insane because they thought they were helping men alone in the world by serving them arsenic in Elderberry wine. They helped all right, helped to put them six feet under.

Mr. Foelker, the director, and the cast can well be congratulated on the success of the play. Everyone did a super job on his or her part, and with all doing his best it couldn't help but be a good production.

Band

Strike up the band; here comes Hilhi. A tapping of the baton can be heard with words like "start over again on C sharp in the second line."

Something new has been added to the band this year, that is after several years of absence; the snappily uniformed band has been playing while on the march. Yes, the new has been added. All home games warranted the band performing its snappy drills in time to its own music.

We wonder if the new music building could have added the new initiative and drive toward the undertaking of such a worthwhile project, but things like that aren't learned overnight so we suppose it took lots of practice to do such a good job.

There's something about a band that adds high spirits and enthusiasm to any game, and the students can say the band has really given its all. "Thanks, and do continue with the good work, Mr. Weisflock."

"No, No, No, that isn't right, someone is in the wrong place or just can't read." We imagine that such words as these are not at all uncommon after the orchestra members have assembled, tuned their instruments, and settled themselves for an hour of concentrated practice. They too, have the incentive to do well and practice long with a brand new building to do it in.

If practice makes them perfect, and perfect means a good performance, they showed they had practiced when they played for the junior play. They added background music for the teachers' Christmas Dinner, sounded very professional, and certainly gave it that added touch. Commencement wouldn't be commencement if the orchestra didn't play the traditional processional and recessional. A note of thanks in appreciation to you all.

Choir and

Hilhi can be and is proud of its ninety-five voiced A Cappella Choir. The choir has made two very important appearances, both times wearing the traditional black robes. The Christmas concert had a very appropriate theme of "I Hear America Singing," and it will be a long time before it is forgotten. As designated by the topic, songs of American life and ways were chosen.

At the time this book goes to press, the Choir Council is making plans for an even better Easter Concert and the annual Music Contest to be held at Hilhi. If the Christmas Concert was any indication they should put on a very good show.

Helping the choir is the able Choir Council. They discuss choir activities and plan for coming events and also help pick the music which is to be used, Democracy in action. The choir has done an excellent job and deserves a big hand of applause.

Ol' Buttermilk Sky, Dinnah, Loch Lomond, and Com-in' Thru the Rye, may not be at the top of the national Hit Parade, but they stand well up on our list when we hear our very own Swing Choir. This choir is made up of thirty-five students selected from the A Cappella Choir for their musical ability, who meet Wednesday nights for rehearsal. Not only are they busy with rehearsals and learning new songs but they made approximately eight public performances including an appearance before the Music Educators' National Conference in Portland.

The incentive toward all this good music brought forth by the choruses and choir might be the new music facilities, but more probably is a lot of hard work on the part of Mr. Clark.

"Where's the turpentine, I've got paint on my face?" or "Gee this charcoal is messy stuff." No truer words were ever spoken, but at least it is evident that the messy charcoal and paint has brought results. When some of the work was sent into Portland for the National Scholastic Arts contest, much to our pleasure and surprise we had pieces that placed.

Many interruptions occurred during the portrait class or the commercial art, or oil and water color class such as, "could you possibly get this sign done for the game?" or "do you have anyone who could help to decorate this?"

A note of thanks to all the students who have helped and to the entire art department and Miss Mitchell for their contribution to the acquaintance and appreciation of art.

FRESHMEN

"Freshman! freshman! There goes a green freshman." Things like this are just what the meek freshmen dread and fear, but it doesn't really happen, at least not as often as is thought.

Freshmen these days aren't so foolish that they let little things like that alarm them and above all wait to take the elevator up to the second floor. They couldn't be that gullible and put out such a good assembly. The unemployment bureau idea was a good one and it was certainly a novel idea to get all that freshman talent before their assembly.

Then came the party of the year, spaghetti and all the trimmings. From the sounds coming from the cafeteria seems as though almost all of the freshman class must have been there and really had a wonderful time.

By the time this book comes out all you charming freshmen will be more than well on your way towards being sophomores. Keep up the good work and be as good a sophomore class as you were a freshman class.

SOPHOMORES

Attention for an announcement, attention for an announcement, all sophomores report to the auditorium at 12:15 for a class meeting. Yes, they too have business to transact.

Gullible, isn't the word when speaking of sophomores, for it takes a better man than a senior to put one over on them. The sophomores put on a snappy Arthur Godfrey talent show for their assembly; not only did it rank high in student appeal but it was the first one to be given.

Of course they can't be outdone by the freshman class so they too had a party. Quite a snappy one at that. Helping the class along and giving bits of advice when needed are Miss Weatherred and Mr. Poulette.

JUNIORS

Let it never be said that a junior is freshman green, or sophomore gullible, they are just plain skeptical. Despite the skepticism they know one thing for sure and that's the fact that has become a tradition, the junior prom. When this dear book goes to press the decorations and date of the prom are still a deep dark secret.

Then came the assembly, "We was there." All the way from Indian love to the industrial revolution. In other words the assembly was just plain good. Why shouldn't it be—with two advisors like the Knispels to lend a hand.

SENIORS

"There's Gravel Gertie now!"

"That's not Gravel Gert; it's Mammy Yokum."

Yes, you have guessed it. It is Senior Dress-up Day and Mr. and Mrs. April Fool have to be picked. This merry affair held every year seems to get better and better, but what will happen when the best is reached? All in all Senior Dress-up Day is fun for everyone, especially the juniors and lower classmen; for this is the only time they get to see the seniors make fools of themselves.

Previous to this came the assembly—A word of congratulations must be given to Miss Hildeman and Mr. Foster on their able direction of the assembly on the history of Hilhi and their advice on the class affairs in general. The seniors really showed the student body just what happened here twenty years ago.

Of course every member of the senior class is looking toward graduation, but they all will be sorry to leave this grand old school and the record they built for themselves so we can only wish that their years in life be as successful as they were at Hilhi.
